

Membership Information:

To join the Co-op, you need to pay an entrance fee (currently set at $25).

To remain a member of the Co-op you will pay an annual subscription (currently set at $20 per year), or you may volunteer at the co-op for 2 hours in lieu of paying your subscription (in this case volunteer discounts will not be earned).

There will be three levels of membership to choose from:

Shopper Only: 10% discount on all full priced items

Casual Volunteer: One-off 25% discount on all full priced items for every 2 hours volunteered

Permanent Volunteer: 25% discount on all full priced items. Permanent volunteers work at the co-op for a minimum of 8 hours a calendar month

Information brochure

The Flame Tree Community Co-op aims to establish a shop front to provide bulk, local, organic wholefoods to the wider community. The Co-op will provide a space for the community to volunteer in return for discounted food based on their level of input.

The Co-op hopes to link local growers and producers such as organic farmers, market gardeners and community gardeners with consumers in their local area to boost the local economy, decrease packaging and food miles.

The aims and objectives of the Flame Tree Community Co-op are:

- Accessibility: a venue that is easy to get to by multiple modes of transport, is open at times which meet community needs and is a safe environment for children
- Community Development: a meeting-place that fosters the environmental, social and personal growth of our community
- Ethical and Sustainable: ecologically-sound practices and systems throughout the life cycle of products (including minimal packaging and food miles, fair trade, GM-free, organic waste management)
- Local: supporting local economy and employment through relationships with local growers, land and community in a locally managed venue
- Affordable: a not-for-profit structure enabling affordable, healthy food
- Standards and Quality Products: focus on a diverse range of quality products that contribute to healthy living
