The people of the Illawarra have been leading the way in tackling the challenges posed by climate change. We're taking up practical environmental initiatives like installing rainwater tanks and solar hot water systems. We all want to do the right thing by our children and the environment.

It has never been more important to find more sustainable ways of living.

Sustainability Begins at Home is a new program to help all of us to take on this challenge – the challenge to create a sustainable future together.
